Q: Stuck in Makefile loop: What to do? I'm trying to solve the problems that Makefiles present. This is the result of the make file that I'm stuck with: .PHONY: all; main.o .c.o: g++ -Wall -c $^ main.o: main.cpp g++ -g -Wall -c $^ I have read several other posts regarding this topic but none of the mentioned posts answered my question, that is how to fix my Makefile. I have tried to remove 'all' target but then main.o file will not be built so I'm forced to remove it. But when I remove all then the main.o file will be automatically built so there must be some way to make it work. Note: The 'all' does not appear in the build sequence because the first target 'build' should have been reached before executing 'all'. A: for target: main.o (built-in, don't add target) all (add target) for variables: g++ (built-in, no variable) CXX (generic name for compiler) CXXFLAGS (no variable) for headers: main.h for libraries: -lgcc (no variable) -lgcc_s (no variable) for rule: g++ (-c $

A: Try this: var stream = streamObj.GetStream(); if (stream == null || stream.Name.Contains(".mp4") == false) { return; } A: First, check if the file contains 'DTS' or 'AAC' audio information, var audioTag = stream.Tag as TagAudio; if (audioTag != null) { var audioCodec = (TagAudio)audioTag.Parent; switch (audioCodec.Subtype) { case "DTS": return "DTS"; case "AAC": return "AAC"; default: return ""; } } If the file contains 'DTS' or 'AAC' audio, set the audioCodec and return the code. Otherwise, set the audioCodec to null and return an empty string. Q: How do I log a successful query? I'm using PDO to make my database queries (in PHP) How do I log all my successful queries, and what is the difference between logging the errors and logging the successful queries? So, if I do $result = $dbh->query($sql); And then just do if ($result) { //success } else { // failed } Then, the results go in the else, but I would like to log the results in the success section. A: If you want to log all the queries you should do something like this: $dbh->setAttribute(PDO::ATTR_EMULATE_PREPARES, false); $stmt = $dbh->query($sql); if ($stmt->execute()) { $qid = $dbh->lastInsertId(); // This will only fire for the last INSERT - // for all the queries you did, do something like this: 3e33713323
